

Congress Faces Foreign Debtors' Inability to Pay

This is One of the Serious Aspects of the Financial Crisis

BALKS TAX REDUCTION

Revenue Situation Causes Grave Concern to Party Leaders

BY J. BART CAMPBELL
Staff Correspondent I. N. S.
WASHINGTON, June 30—Congress is confronted today with a grave national and international situation which is causing its Republican leaders deep concern.

The inability of foreign nations to pay even the $1,000,000,000 interest due on their $10,000,000,000 indebtedness to this country is but one of the serious aspects of the financial and commercial crisis which Republican leaders admit is daily growing more acute.

They have learned from Secretary of the Treasury Mellon that the administration is convinced it would be as disastrous for this country as for its foreign debtors to seek to collect even part of the principal of interest long overdue. They realize that no immediate aid from that quarter is probable.

The administrations plan to cut federal expenditures is meeting with their approval, but they themselves have been unable to hit upon any plan to keep the administration pledge for reduced taxation.

Attribute Traffic Increase To Summer Auto Tourists

Traffic through Bristol is on the increase, according to those who are familiar with conditions over the local highways. It is presumed that this is due to the number of persons who take their annual vacations in automobile touring.

At times the traffic is more or less congested at Buckley and Beaver streets, and Frank Christopher, who with his father runs the Imperial Garage, at that corner, estimates that on Saturdays and Sunday the number of automobiles passing the corner runs as high as 200 and 300 an hour.

Most of the heavy truck traffic passes at night and this is also on the increase, it would appear, as truck after truck runs over Otter, Bath, Buckley and Beaver street.

Just when the canal bridges which are being rebuilt above Bristol will be completed is not known. Superintendent Harvey's office, of the local division of the State Highway Department today said that when they would be open to traffic, could not be definitely stated, at this time.

When these bridges are finished, it is thought that much of the traffic will go straight up the Bristol pike and use the new State Highway through Tullytown and into Morrisville.

Lynch Negro Farm Hand; His Employer Near Death

By International News Service.
JACKSON, Miss., June 30—"Red" Bilbro, a negro farm hand, has been lynched by a mob in Madison county twenty miles north of here, it was learned today. F. M. Pace, on whose farm Bilbro was a tenant, was brought to Jackson and placed in a hospital with his throat cut and skull fractured.

Pace had quarreled with the negro.
While Pace was at work, Bilbro hit him over the head with a spade and cut his throat. The unconscious man was then bound by the negro's wife while Bilbro escaped, only to be caught later by a posse.

The sheriff tried to take the prisoner, but members of the posse took the negro to the Pace farm, where, after being identified by Mrs. Pace, a rope was placed around his neck and he was forced to climb a tree, and jump.

Promise of More Room in Fall as Schools Close Today

The public schools closed today for the usual summer vacation and will reopen in September. When the schools reopen two additional buildings will be provided, to care for the increased attendance other than that which is taken care of in the regular school buildings.

The five public school buildings here filled to their capacity and nearly 500 children have been on half-time throughout the term. Some relief was obtained when the Enterprise Fire House was taken over for school purposes and when the term begins in

New Church Shows Reform Is Permanent at Crossing

Moral Uplift Marked in Community Last Summer the Scene of Bathing Scandal, Though Crusading Parson is Long Departed

The opening of a church, the first, at Washington Crossing, on the Jersey side, within the past few days, recalls the "moral" advancement that has been made in that community since a year ago, when many Bristolians were interested in the sensational bathing episodes occurring there.

Travelers on the railroad are no longer regaled with views of nearly nude bathers, of both sexes, who sat along the canal banks and on the station platform, even invading the trains, at times making dives from the car steps into the water alongside.

The Rev. Frederick Kopman, former pastor of the Titusville M. E. Church, who raised the rumpus that set the whole Delaware Valley on its ears for several weeks, has long since passed into oblivion, or at least disappeared somewhere in the "wilds" of New York City. Wert he at the Crossing however, he could find nothing to object to in either the attire or the actions of the bathers.

Lest it be thought that the advent of the new Catholic church may portend a continuous—Sunday atmosphere, it is worthy of note that the last nail was driven yesterday on the dance pavilion, erected to replace one destroyed by fire some months ago.

It is also noticeable that, despite the charges of the Rev. Kopman, and resultant improvement in bathing ethics, together with the activity of the Hopewell Township, the resort has shown an increased building and improvement record, and nothing more is heard of the alleged blighting effects of "reform."

Last summer it was a common occurrence for scores of automobiles to journey to Washington Crossing from outside points to view the bathers, and one Sunday eight Bristol cars were seen there within a short time.
"Alas, for the good old days gone by," say some of the folks up that way, but others only smile, and say "We knew it would turn out for the best."

Popular Shipyard Man Passes Away

William MacCarthy Made Many Friends During Residence Here

MINOR ILLNESS FATAL

Death early this morning claimed William MacCarthy, who for the past four years had been a resident of Bristol, and who during that time had made a wide circle of friends in this community.

Mr. MacCarthy came to Bristol four years ago to accept a position at the Harriman yard of the Merchant Shipbuilding Corporation. He was employed in the plant accounting department and was one of the best known and most liked employees to be associated with that corporation.

He was stricken with his fatal illness last Saturday morning. Tonsillitis at first developed and complications later set in. He was taken to the Harriman hospital on Tuesday, where he died early today. Since coming to Bristol he has resided with Thomas Burns, of Jefferson avenue.

Mr. MacCarthy was a resident of Middletown, New York, previous to coming to Bristol and is survived by two sisters, who still reside in Middletown. One of his sisters came to Bristol yesterday and immediately went to the bedside of her brother.

This afternoon at 2:05 the body was taken back to Middletown, where burial will be made.

"Mac," as he was familiarly called, had a host of friends in Bristol. He was of an exceptionally jovial disposition and always had a friendly smile and a joke for all he met.

CHICAGO, June 30—More than a thousand railway union leaders representing 1,500,000 railway employees an effort to prevent a tie-up in the national transportation situation. These leaders will decide whether the workers shall abide by the U. S. Railway Labor Board's order slashing wages 12 per cent whether there shall be a walk-out permitted or whether further efforts shall be employed in seeking a compromise arrangement.

sustaining their words to action. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Post tonight will have a moving picture and vaudeville

A program full of interest has been arranged for tonight. The feature picture is to be "The Wonder Man." Little Miss McNee, of Harriman, is to give several of her dances and the Legion orchestra will play numerous selections during the evening. Then there will be dancing by the Granzow sisters and vocal selection by Mr. Andrew pugilism as his sphere, the noted visitor from France might have achieved as great a success as a movie actor as he has at his own calling.

As the hero in "The Wonder Man," are scheduled to go on at 12:30 P. M.

Some will make the trip in automobiles, while others will go by train, taking the special which is to run out of Trenton at 10:14.

Among the list of those who will make the trip are the following: Chief Burgess Clifford L. Anderson; Chief of Police James A. Sackville, Borough Solicitor Howard I. James, Chief of Fire Department Franklin Gilkeson, School Director Dr. William C. Le

Dr. George T. Fox and his brother, Robert Coleman, Minot J. Hill, William Sackville, Thomas Brennan, Michel Brennan, Elwood G. Minster, of Bristol; Dr. Sweeney, Doylestown.

Much enthusiasm has developed in Bristol over the fight and keen interest is being manifested in the outcome of the battle to determine whether the belt is to stay in America or go to France.

Most of the Bristolians who will attend favor Dempsey and some are going to back their opinions.

Stillman Faces Wife; But No Sign Of Recognition

Banker Keeps Eyes "Glued" To Ground as He Meets Wife in Court

LAWYERS ACCOMPANY

Counsel Raves at Reporters And Ask Them Why
They Lie

BY K. M. ELISH
Staff Correspondent I. N. S.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 30—Arriving for the resumption of his ordeal on the witness stand in his suit for divorce, James A. Stillman, amid the clicking of a battery of cameras and under the gaze of an army of reporters for the first time accepted the inevitable today and without any attempt to disguise or hiding walked up to the court room by the front door.
His eyes were glued to the ground, Upstairs, in the chambers of Referee Gleason, he was again face to face with his wife, Mrs. "Fifi" Potter Stillman, the second time in more than a year. Again neither gave the slightest sign of recognition.

Stillman again refused to answer all questions bearing on direct issues in the case. Again he repeated over and over that he refused because he did not wish to incriminate himself.

After the hearing was underway and Mrs. Stillman's attorneys were again exploiting every conceivable legal recourse to force the ex-banker to answer the direct questions which yesterday he had steadfastly refused to answer, on the ground that he did not wish to "incriminate and degrade" himself.

As the banker and his legal aides arrived, Cornelius J. Sullivan one of his counsel, took occasion to upbraid the newspapermen.

"Why don't you reporters tell the truth?" he fairly shouted. "All the newspapers said this morning that Mr. Stillman went up to the court room yesterday through the back door and cellar. He did nothing of the kind.
He walked right through the front door at 9:30. But you fellows missed him."

There followed a storm of contradiction from two score trained reporters who announced their readiness to swear that the ex-banker did not enter the building by the front door, some even offering affidavits that he went through the back door and cellar.

The back door was looked today.

Mrs. Stillman bore her usual cheery and confident manner today. She had on a flower dotted black dress, black straw hat, and black pumps, this somewhat sombre setting being counteracted by cream colored stockings and a string of pearls.

Local Interest in News Of Sale Of Wooden Ships

Considerable interest was manifested locally in a dispatch from Washington that the United States Shipping Board had announced today that the entire fleet of wooden ships was to be sold. Bristol people who were employed at the Traylor yard at Cornwells participated in the building of some of these wooden cargo carriers, of which the Government received 287 from all of the contracting yards.

This wooden fleet, aggregating 900,- 000 tons deadweight, will be sold as speedily as possible. Bids will be opened on July 30.

The sale of the wooden vessels, which are now anchored and deteriorating in various ports, is the first step in the carrying out of the administration's policy to "get the government out of the shipping business."

The bulk of the wooden ship fleet is anchored in James River.

The Shipping Board came to the conclusion, that wooden ships have no place in upbuilding the American marine.

Charges of Mormonism and Fraud Threaten to Disrupt Fourth of July at New Hope

Hot Weather Hints Interest Mothers

27 Mothers And One Father Hear Doctors Give Pointers

DWELL ON PROPER FOOD

Twenty-seven mothers and thirty babies gathered in the Community House, at Dorrance and Cedar streets, yesterday afternoon, the mothers for the purpose of hearing talks on the care of the little ones in hot weather.
The gurgles, coos and cries with which the babies punctuated the doctors remarks was vocal evidence that the hot weather wasn't bothering them much.

The difference between the number of mothers and the number of babies present was due of course, to some of the mothers bringing two babies, but also to the presence of one father with his baby son. His wife did not accompany him but from the intent way in which he listened there is no doubt he gathered a lot of pointers to impart to the baby's mother.

Dr. William C. LeCompte made the principal address in English and Dr.
Nicola Rubertone followed him with an address in Italian.

Dr. LeCompte dwelt especially upon the care that should be exercised in feeding a baby in hot weather. He said that the greater part of the mortality among infants in Summer time was due to the disturbances of the intestinal tract. He emphasized how easily a baby's milk could become infected and urged the mothers to be careful when preparing the baby's bottle and in handling its soiled clothes.

The physician singled a number of mothers out from the audience and, by questioning them, drew for the number of very interesting points that afforded the other mothers illustration of his remarks on baby care in hot weather.

He asked, for instance, how many mothers present were still feeding the baby at the breast and elicited an assenting response from nearly a dozen of the mothers. In reply to his question as to how many babies there were who had never been fed from the breast, a mother held up her baby.
It was quite healthy and Dr. LeCompte complimented her on its well appearance, despite the fact that the bottle fed baby's diet is not so assimilable by the infant as is mother's milk.

Dr. Rubertone also singled out mothers from the Italian representation and questioned them as to their care of the particular infant, eliciting a number of replies that were of interest to other Italian mothers.

At the conclusion of the talks, refreshments, in the form of lemonade and cakes, were served to the mothers by a committee of ladies who had arranged the affair, and the nurses who do community work in Bristol. The ladies were Miss Mary Swain, of the Child Welfare Committee, Bristol Health Center; Miss Alice Husey, and Mrs. William P. McCoy. The nurses, Miss Laurie Gillick, of the State Department of Health, and Miss Nora Jones, community nurse for the Bristol Branch of the Red Cross, had as their guest Miss Anna Wallace, community nurse at Newtown, Pennsylvania.

Extremists Threaten Revolt If De Valera Negotiates

BY EARLE C. REEVES
Staff Correspondent I. N. S.

LONDON, June 30—Irish Extremists are threatening to revolt and set up a new government if Eamonn De Valera continues peace negotiations in compliance with Premier Lloyd George's latest proposals according to information reaching Whitehall this afternoon.

"Mike" Collins, so-called commander in chief of the Irish Republican army, is reported to have announced that he will never surrender even if the rest of Ireland does so.

It is understood that Collins's plans, in the event of an agreement, to go to Clonakilty and proclaim himself "President of Ireland", with Austin Stack and Richard Mulcahy as his chief aides.

Barry Egan, deputy lord mayor of Cork is planning to go to Paris to arrange an Irish junta to back and finance any counter Republican movement that Collins may undertake.

Despite the new obstacle in the way of the proposed Irish peace parley the opinion was held in many quarters today that the conference would eventually be held in some form.

"Does DeValera really want peace?" queried the Daily Mail in commenting

Big Celebration Planned At Deer Park Camp Grounds The Cause

NOTED MEN WITHDRAW

Presbyterian Minister Living Near Park Announces
Sensational Sermon

Charges of "Mormonism" and allegations of fraud threaten to disrupt a Fourth of July celebration planned to be held at Solebury Deer Park near New Hope.

The sensation has set the people of New Hope Borough and Solebury Township by the ears and is their foremost subject of conversation.

Rev. Harry Boehme, pastor of the New Hope Presbyterian Church, announces a red-hot sermon for Sunday evening, on the lawn of his church, in which he will discuss Mormonism, polygamy and kindred subjects in a forceful manner, though not, he states, with any reference to the Fourth of July celebration at Deer Park.

Prominent New Hope men today issued a statement to the effect that their inclusion in a committee in charge of the affair was without their authority.

Solebury Deer Park is being used this Summer by the members of a religious sect from Philadelphia calling themselves "Latter Day Saints." They have a camp meeting ground and over 1,000 of them are Sum-mering there in the manner typical of Summer camp meetings. The old dance pavilion is being used as a place for holding their religious meetings and is styled their "temple."

The park property, which was formerly owned by Hugh B. Eastburn, of Bristol, was recently transferred to John Zimmerman, Jr., a Philadelphia manufacturer, under whose ownership the religious community is a tenant.

The religious sect has been holding meetings there for some weeks, and the local people have hitherto had no cause for complaint, it is said. The "Latter Day Saints" have been quiet, well behaved and apparently anxious to be good neighbors to all and to welcome all visitors to the camp meeting grounds.

It is probable that their desire to continue in the good graces of the local people prompted them to announce a big celebration of the Fourth, to which everyone was invited, whether members of their sect or not.

The announcement said that there would be a grand celebration at Deer Park, everybody invited, including a fireworks display the like of which had never been seen in that section of Bucks County. There was to be music all day, and other amusements, and also free refreshments for everyone. Free transportation was also to be provided to and from the park and all New Hope people and Bucks Countians in general were cordially invited to attend. The consequence was that an estimated attendance

DEFYING THE LIGHTNING

Electrical storms are the bane of the lives of the employees of public service companies which furnish current for lighting and other purposes. The company and its workers, particularly those concerned with service maintenance, spend the duration of an electrical storm in suspense, not knowing what will occur the next moment to paralyze or destroy their equipment. Uneasy lies the head of the electrical company man upon his pillow while a thunderstorm is raging overhead. Some folks are lulled to sleep by the sound of thunder; not so the electrical man, for, if he isn't up and out, he is lying there wondering how much of his equipment was crippled at that last ear-splitting crash. He knows and feels that a hard day's work faces him and probably tumbles out at once to begin it.

The East Pennsylvania Gas & Electric Company naturally suffered considerably in the two heavy storms which happened, with daily regularity, in the early part of this week. The Company is to be congratulated, however, on the manner in which it met the situation and quickly overcame the devastation and damage the storm inflicted upon its lines and equipment.

Little inconvenience through deprivation of current was experienced by Bristol folks and the damage done was quickly repaired. The company had its linemen out loan small sums of money reported a number of instances before the thunder had ceased to roll and the lightning crash nearby.

THE SMALL LOAN BUSINESS

During the silk shirt period the people who make it a business to loan small sums of money reported their trade quiet. A lot of folks who previously were always behind the game, for once found money sufficient to pay the bill. But with the passing of the flush times and considerable unemployment, the small loan man finds his business picking up. Some of them find so much demand that they are not giving accommodation except to old and tried customers.

Some small loan men charge exorbitant rates of interest, defending themselves by the claim that they make many losses. Many of these small borrowers have to pay such high rates of interest that they eventually pay the principal several times over. The business men of any community ought to make some provision by which people who have a legitimate reason for borrowing small sums of money can get them at reasonable rates of interest. When the poor man who needs money the most has to pay far higher to get it than the business man, the community is not giving him the equal opportunity that America is supposed to provide.

PROMOTING PUBLIC NEATNESS

The Cranford Club, of Cranford, Rhode Island, seems to have the right idea about promoting neatness. It has hired a man to pick up the litter in the streets. It has personally solicited tenants of houses to keep their yards and sidewalks clean, and it has raised money to pay the cost of keeping the surroundings of public property in good order.

A tenant or house owner here in Bristol who maintains a disorderly place, should be solicited by some one to keep it cleaned up. It is for the real estate owner's interest to attend to that, but some fail to do it. If the civic organizations would take up the matter and offer prizes for the most improvement in private grounds, and urge those who keep disorderly places to co-operate, a big improvement could be made around some unattractive homes.

"DESERVING DEMOCRATS" HANG ON

Perhaps it would help the government to get on a basis of economy and efficiency if President Harding would dismiss those heads of divisions and bureaus who must have been responsible for a lot of the waste of the Wilson administration. Thus far the changes in personnel have been limited to the heads of department and of bureaus. The Government service is still run, for all practical purposes, by the supervisors next lower down, the heads of divisions, who have direct charge of the workers. These heads of divisions are practically all "deserving Democrats" placed in their position for that reason.

THE DAYS OF PIRATES

The claim that a gang of pirates have worked a plot to capture vessels for the benefit of the soviet Russian government, is a reminder of the old days when dime novels about pirates were the favorite reading of many boys.

Piracy seemed romantic enough in the old tales. But actually it was a terrible evil. The hard working sea captain never knew when some bloodthirsty villain might descend on his ill fated vessel, seize the product of his toil and hang the whole crowd to the yard arm. It is one of the landmarks of human progress that this crime has almost disappeared, and that the tales of piracy just reported seem like an echo from 200 years ago.

WELL PROVIDED FOR

There is food for thought in the statement of the Manufacturers Record that the United States has one-half the world's coal and iron area, one-half of the world's mileage, two-thirds of the world's cotton, one-third of the world's stock of gold and one-third of the world's wealth, but only six per cent. of the world's population. Certainly there is no occasion for despondency over the future of America. All we need is a determination to prevent any interference with those who are willing to work.

DECADE OF PURIFICATION

A writer to the New York Times says "Russians have always had a strong liking for abstract theories of economic millennium . . . They burned their fingers severely in the communist crucible . . . The intellectuals likewise have been going through a purification of their theoretical inclinations." Some day 1911 to 1921 will be known as the decade of purification of abstract theories. In so far, it has served its purpose. The dawn of reason follows the night of aberration.

INTERNAL TROUBLE

Mr. Gompers continues to manifest concern over the activities of men whom he calls the enemies of union labor. He overlooks the obvious fact that union labor can be hurt only by the unwise activities of its supposed friends.

Von Hindenburg praises America but slightly in his book on the war. He could scarcely say much about the United States. After we started for the Hindenburg line, he didn't know what happened.

Lavish governmental expenditures and high taxes are incompatible with conservative business policy. No wonder Washington and the people are unanimous for economy.

Among the objectionable features of prohibition are the names of some of the soft drinks. The authors must invent these titles while riding on merry-go-rounds.

A PLEA FOR THE EXPRESSMEN

Editor of "The Courier":
An article appearing in your issue of June 27 informed the merchants and the public that an "innovation" was to be made July 1, to wit:

The Trenton Transportation Company is to give the merchants and the public of Bristol free curbside delivery.

The writer wonders what the merchants of Bristol will think of this announcement. Will they swallow the bait which it dangles before them solely for the purpose of taking their trade away from the men who serve them all year around—in fair weather and foul, the expressmen? Will the merchants forget those who serve them when the weather is bad and the river is frozen over?

Where will the boat company's "curbside service"—or any other kind of service they give—be then, Mr. Merchant?

It was but a short time ago that a representative of the Trenton Transportation Company visited Bristol and made the plea that the Transportation Company did not want the expressmen to cut the prices while the river was closed to the Transportation Company's boats. The writer is under the impression that all expressmen agreed not to cut prices so that the Transportation Company's business would not suffer from the inroads the expressmen would be able to make on it when they had the advantage.

Now along comes this curbside delivery "innovation." Not only is it a poor return for the expressmen's forbearance with the Transportation Company and desire to compete in no way than fairly with the boat line, but it is a move which will undoubtedly drive some of the smaller expressmen out of business—perhaps ruin them financially.

Many of these men have served the community faithfully for years, and with most of them their only means of livelihood is at stake.

Will the merchants of Bristol see this injury done the men who have served them, to say nothing of giving their support to a concern which displays such base ingratitude to a fair and foregoing competitor as does the Transportation Company?

Besides, looking at it from another standpoint, the Trenton Transportation Company is a "foreign corporation"—a concern from another city, which does nothing for Bristol except take money from the community.

Our merchants are always appealing to the people—and rightly, too—to "Buy in Bristol," in order to help our community. If they buy transportation from an outside concern, they are not themselves living up to their principle.

Do not fall, Mr. Merchant, for this transparent game of the Transportation Company to take business from your fellow business men of Bristol by offering a specious inducement. If you do, you will in the end pay for your foolishness and gullibility.

Patronize your fellow business men, the local expressmen, who make daily trips to Philadelphia for your accommodation. They maintain their service for a loss to themselves—and do not quit when the weather is bad, if it is humanly possible to give you service.

There are enough motor truckmen in Bristol to carry all the freight between Bristol and Philadelphia that can be sent. They will deliver your packages the same day you ordered the goods, no matter what the weather may be.

The freight service rendered by the local motor truckmen is superior to that given by any other method of transportation. It is quicker, cleaner, and safer. There is less liability of damage to the goods and damage suits growing out of such damage. In fact, there has been no suit for years brought against local expressmen for damage to packages or goods in transportation. That is more than other transportation corporations or concerns can boast of.

Don't be beguiled, Mr. Bristol Merchant, with curbside delivery "innovations." Patronize your local motor expressmen, who are your willing servants.

FAIRPLAY.

BRISTOL A. A. MANGER CORRECTS

Editor of the Courier:
Sir:

While reading the Courier Monday evening I noticed a box score of a game between "Bristol and Hulmeville," which I want to correct. The team mentioned is not the Bristol A. A., as some people think as the local team has not played Saturday ball yet, and won't until Saturday, July 2nd, when they go to Parkersburg, Pa.

If the Hulmeville club wants to get into the limelight, they can find me at 431 Jefferson Avenue and I will talk business with them. Their man should be sure to bring a bank roll, so we can play Monday morning for $50, $75 or $100 a side, money to be placed in hands of the Courier as stake holder.

Several of my players wanted a little practice last Saturday, so they picked a scrub nine which has been

A MAN FOR THE AGES

A Story of the Builders of Democracy

"The minister got off his coat and hitched him and took off his coat and put it on the ground.

"What you goin' to do? I says.

"Me? says the minister. 'I be goin' to rattle with Satan for the soul of that 'ar man, an' if you keep watch I reckon you'll see 'at the ground'll be scratched up some 'fore I git through.'

"He loosened his collar an' knelt on his coat and began to pray that the man's soul would see its wickedness and repent. You could have heard him half a mile away.

"Mr. Traylor drove off with the damaged slaver settin' beside him and the saddle horse hitched to the rear axle. I see my chance an' before that prayer ended I had got the fugitives under some hay in my wagon and started off with them on my way to Livingston county. I could hear the prayer until I got over the hill into Canaan barrens. At sundown I left them in good hands thirty miles up the road."

In a frontier newspaper of that time it is recorded that the minister and his dog kept the slaver on the roof all day, vainly trying with prayer and exhortation to convert his soul. The man stopped swearing before dinner and on his promise not again to violate the commandment a good meal was handed up to him. He was liberated at sundown and spent the night with Brimstead.

"Who is that big sucker who grabbed my friend?" the stranger asked Brimstead.

"His name is Samson Traylor. Comes from Vermont," was the answer.

"If he don't look out 'Liph Biggs'll kill him—certain."

Samson spoke not more than a dozen words on his way back to New Salem. Amazed and a little shocked by his own conduct, he sat thinking. After all he had heard and seen, the threat of the young upstart had provoked him beyond his power of endurance. The sensitive mind of the New Englander had been hurt by the story of the fugitives. Upon this hurt the young man had poured the Argentine of haughty, imperial manners. The more he thought of it the less inclined he was to reproach himself for his violence. Slavery was a relic of an ancient imperialism. It had no right in free America. There could be no peace with it save for a little time. The Missourians would tell their friends of the lawless and violent men of the north, who cared not a fig for the property rights of a Southerner. The stories would travel like fire in dry grass.

So, swiftly, the thoughts of men were being prepared for the great battle lines of the future. Samson saw the peril of it.

As they rode along young Mr. Biggs complained of pain and Samson made a sling of his muffler and put it over the neck and arm of the injured Biggs and drove with care to avoid jolting. For the first time Samson took a careful and sympathetic look at him. He was a handsome youth, about six feet tall, with dark eyes and hair and a small black mustache and teeth very white and even.

In New Salem Samson took him to Doctor Allen's office and helped the doctor in setting the broken bone. Then he went to Offut's store and found Abe reading his law book and gave him an account of his adventure.

"I'm both glad and sorry," said Abe. "I'm glad that you licked the slaver and the negroes out of his reach. I reckon I'd have done the same if I could. I'm sorry because it looks to me like the beginning of many troubles. The whole subject of slavery is full of danger. Naturally Southern men will fight for their property, and there is a growing number in the worth who will fight for their principles. If we all get to fighting, I wonder what will become of the country. It reminds me of the man who found a skunk in his house. His boy was going after the critter with a club.

"Look here, boy," he said, "when you've got a skunk in the house, it's a good time to be careful. You might spyle the skunk with that club, but the skunk would be right certain to spyle the house. While he's our guest, I reckon we'll have to be polite, whether we want to or not."

That evening Samson set down the events of the day in his book and quoted the dialogue in Offut's store in which he had had a part. On the first of February, 1840, he put these words under the entry:

"I wouldn't wonder if this was the first trip on the Underground railroad."

CHAPTER VII.

In Which Mr. Eliphalet Biggs Gets Acquainted With Bim Kelso and Her Father.

In a musty old ledger kept by James Rutledge, the owner of Rutledge's tavern, in the year 1832, is an entry under the date of January 31st which reads as follows:

"Arrived this day Eliphalet Biggs of 26 Olive street, St. Louis, with one horse."

Young Mr. Biggs remained at Rutledge's tavern for three weeks with his arm in a sling under the eye of the good doctor. The Rutledges were Kentucky folk and there the young man had found a sympathetic hearing and tender care.

It had done him good to be hurled against a barn door and to fall trembling and confused at the feet of his master. He had never met his master until he had reached Hopedale that morning. The event had been too long delayed. Encouraged by idleness and conceit and alcohol, evil passions had grown rank in the soil of his spirit. Restraint had been a thing unknown to him. He had ruled the little world in which he had lived by a sense of divine right. He was a prince of Ego-land—that province of America which had only half yielded itself to the principles of Democracy.

It must be said that he served his term as a sober human being quite gracefully, being a well born youth of some education. A few days he spent mostly in bed, while his friend, who had come on from Hopedale, took care of him. Soon he began to walk about and his friend returned to St. Louis.

His fine manners and handsome form and face captured the little village, most of whose inhabitants had come from Kentucky. A week after his arrival Ann Rutledge walked over to Jack Kelso's with him. Bim fled up the stick ladder as soon as they entered the door. Mr. Kelso was away on a fox hunt. Ann went to the ladder and called:

"Bim, I saw you fly up that ladder. Come back down. Here's a right nice young man come to see you."

"Is he good-looking?" Bim called.

"Oh, purty as a picture, black eyes and hair and teeth like pearls, and tall and straight, and he's got a beautiful little mustache."

"That's enough!" Bim exclaimed. "I just wish there was a knot hole in this floor."

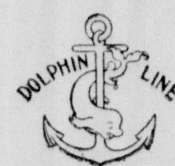

"Come on down here," Ann urged.

"I'm scared," was the answer.

"His cheeks are as red as roses and he's got a lovely ring and big watch chain—pure gold and yaller as a dandelion. You come down here."

"Stop," Bim answered. "I'll be down as soon as I can get on my best bib and tucker."

Doylestown Notes Of Timely Interest

Chronicle of Events Gathered in Community by Our Correspondent

DOYLESTOWN, June 30.—During the last thirty days the sale of farm produce at the Bucks County Home amounted to $649.25, according to report submitted to the Directors of the Poor, Tuesday, by Stewart James Pollock. At this meeting the County Commissioners were requisitioned for $2000 on account of the appropriation. Bills were passed and orders drawn amounting to $2388.50.

There are 100 inmates in the home at the present time. At the last meeting three were 102. Four persons have been admitted, five discharged and one death reported during the last month.

One of the best races in the history of the Warminster Driving Club is promised for the afternoon of July 4th, in Doylestown. Great interest is being shown in the outcome of the free-for-all, in which Robert R. Weller's Richlandtown horse, and Western Boy will fight it out. Many Doylestown horsemen predict that Western Boy will take the race. Robert R. did the mile in 2:16 at Quakertown last Saturday. In spite of this fact horsemen say that Western Boy is improving every day and will make the up-county horse go the limit.

Lightning struck the factory of the Doylestown Agricultural Works during the storm Tuesday, but did little damage besides making a hole in the roof and knocking off a few bricks. The report that the Presbyterian church was struck probably resulted from the fact that the edifice was struck a few weeks ago during a storm. The storm Tuesday, however, was one of the most severe ever experienced here. Hail stones as large as marbles fell and pelted windows until it seemed impossible for them to escape being broken. Such a great quantity of water fell that the gutters were badly washed. Two poles blown over on East Ashland street put the telephone line out of commission.

At a meeting of the local advisory board of the Salvation Army held last night at the office of Isaac Vanartsdaen, the result of the Salvation Army drive during the week of May 10th were discussed. The treasurer reported that $656.46 had been collected in this drive and that practically all of that amount had been forwarded to Salvation Army Headquarters, to be used in the great services they are carrying on. The board is of the opinion that this community has done its share in this work in an exemplary manner and feels well pleased with the result.

Weight, Strength, Clear

HIS TIP IS GOOD FOR WOMEN ALSO

For those not familiar with the vital part Vitamins play in health, it may be said that most foods contain Vitamins, but this Vital element is often destroyed in cooking, canning or preparing. In the Army, Navy, Sanitariums, etc., men and women are fed a scientific diet, rich in Vitamins and quickly grow stronger, robust, rosy, and free of skin troubles. As soon as they leave the Army or Navy and the scientific diet and start choosing their own foods, they usually grow thin, weak, pale and anemic. That is why doctors, medical journals, hospitals, Public Health officials and chemists urge people to get more Vitamins. This explains why many people are eating yeast, which is rich in Vitamins.

Local druggists recommend a tiny tablet, which is very easy to take, and contains a proper dose of both Water and Fat Soluble Vitamins in highly concentrated form. Results are quick, more economical, and, being made expressly for medicinal use, are better for you.

People in a half-sick, pale, thin, under-nourished condition report they have taken these Phos-Pho Vitamins Tablets three or four weeks and gained weight, strength, color, freedom from boils, pimples, carbuncles, etc., and a new buoyancy and vigor. The reader can secure a bottle of sixty Phos-Pho Vitamins Tablets at the nearest drug store or send $1, plus 4c war tax, to Irving Laboratory, Wheeling, W. Va.—Advertisement.

Tonight the Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion, Robert W. Bracken Post, Bristol, will give a Benefit show at the Forrest Theatre to help the Post buy a new home. The photo attraction will be Georges Carpentier in "The Wonder Man." Local Talent vaudeville will hold the stage and the American Legion Orchestra will furnish the music.

New Colonial Theatre

"Carmen of the Klondike" is a most unusual picture written by Monte M. Katterjohn and will be shown at the New Colonial Theatre tonight.

The story which is replete with tense dramatic scenes and stirring situations keyed with suspense, is laid in the Klondike Mountains at Alaska during the days of the gold rush. Miss Williams plays the part of "Dorothy Hagan", a former vaudeville favorite, who is daring the wilds of the north to join her lover, who is striving to make the profession of attorney thrive in the settlement town of Skawag, where laws are made and broken by the brutal strength of men.

At the opening of the story, Dorothy meets on the boat to Alaska, "Silk McDonald," a dance-hall owner and a dominant figure in Alaska. She repulses his attentions but in a rage he threatens her safety. "Silk" makes good his threats even to a greater extent than Dorothy had feared. Soon after she arrives in Skawag, the gold rush is started in the Peel River Country and "Cameron Stewart," Dorothy's fiance, unaware that she is with in thousands of miles, leaves with a frenzied crowd of miners for the snow-bound regions of the mountains.

In the backwoods, Stewart encounters hardship and treachery at the hands of McDonald's accomplices and even from McDonald himself who badly injures Cameron in a fight and rushes ahead to civilization to jump his claim. Back in Skawag, Dorothy, discouraged with life, is shown as under the impression that Stewart has been untrue to her and is living the despised life of a dance hall girl. When McDonald comes in from the mining country she meets him again and there is a surprise point which comes as a shock to both McDonald and Dorothy herself. Four-Year Course For Yardley High

Effort Will be Made to Have School Placed in First Grade

TEACHERS TO RETURN

YARDLEY, June 29.—Beginning with next term, the High School here will inaugurate a four-year course, and an effort will then be made to secure from the State Department of Education the rating of a first-grade high school. At present, Yardley is known as a second-grade high school with a three-year course.

The decision to increase the course of study was made by the school directors as it was pointed out that the present arrangement was not economical. Students go elsewhere to complete their fourth year and this is said to be a great disadvantage to the children of the borough, encouraging many of them to quit school earlier than they otherwise would.

In many instances, pupils from here attend the schools at Langhorne, Newtown, Edgewood and Morrisville and the local school district is required to pay the tuition in these places for local students. The school has made considerable progress since the erection of the new building, and with the four-year course, the directors expect to make it second to none in the county.

Considerable interest is taken in the music department, which has proven successful. Athletics have been carried on successfully, the baseball team doing exceptionally well this season.

The Civic Club has had a number of improvements made to the school grounds by the planting of trees, and the school board is considering the cost of cement walks.

The teachers who will return next year are: Miss Rena Watson, Miss Elizabeth Weeks, Miss Mary Johnson and Miss Elizabeth Thompson.

inent citizens of New Hope, with requests for co-operation in the celebration.

These men, Daniel B. Oblinger, General Manager of the Union Paper Mills, J. Parker Borden, Treasurer of the Universal Bag Mills; Dr. J. E. Scott, head of the New Hope Chatauqua and a prominent physician and clergyman, and Joseph D. Holcomb, a leading New Hope merchant were glad to be of service in any effort of such communal proportions, being always identified with movements for the interest of New Hope.

The Deer Park people later announced a committee in general charge of the affair and on it were the prominent New Hope men above named.

The New Hope men must have been further enlightened in the meanwhile however, for when their names appeared on the general committee, they promptly protested. Today they issued a statement setting forth that their identification with the affair is fraudulent; that they have no direct interest in it and though they have no animosity against the "Latter Day Saints," they cannot lend their support. They say that their inclusion on the committee was without their authority.

Rev. Harry Boehme has a Summer home at the entrance to the park. His home is therefore nearly surrounded by the members of the "Latter Day Saints" sect and he apparently is not in sympathy either with the sect or with the proposed celebration under their auspices.

In his announcement of his sermon however, he does not state that it will be directed against the Solebury Deer Parkers or against the intended celebration of the Fourth in Deer Park, but it is intimated that he will have something quite emphatic to say about his sectarian neighbors and their alleged beliefs.

The sermon is a part of the sensation which the intended celebration has raised.

Surprise Expressed At DeValera's Letter

By International News Service
DUBLIN, June 30.—Widespread surprise was aroused today by Eamon De Valera's letter to Sir James Craig, premier of Ulster, intimating that he would not attend the proposed Irish peace parley in London.

It is declared on good authority that Premier Lloyd Georges letter was received favorably and that the delegation that would represent southern and western Ireland at London had virtually been selected.

The general opinion in Republican circles is that De Valera had good grounds for requesting Sir James Craig to come to Dublin for a conference.
